TWO JURORS PASSED IN TRIAL OF TIREY L. FORD

REFUSES TO TRY CALHOUN FIRST
Prominent Lawyers to Defend United Railroads Officials.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Tirey L. Ford, counsel for the United Railroads, was placed on trial this morning in Judge Lawrence's court, charged with having paid a bribe of $1000 to ex-Supervisor Thomas J. Donagan. Patrick Calhoun's request to go on trial first was denied by the District Attorney.

Patrick Calhoun, Tirey L. Ford, Theron W. Nudally and William M. Abbott, were in court early. Their presence was necessitated by the fact that they were on the calendar for trial. The selection of the case against Ford had not been formally announced by the court. It is anticipated that Mr. Calhoun will be in attendance through most of the trial as he is quite as keenly interested in the legal aspects of the trial as any of the attorneys employed.

HENRY ABSENT.
District Attorney Langdon and Deputy John O'Hara, appeared for the prosecution. It is the first case that has been tried without the assistance of either Henry or William Johnson.

GERMAN PRINCESS WOULD PROBE YANKEE COOKING

Sends Her Chef to America to Study the Mysteries of Uncle Sam's Cuisine.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—American cooking is held in such high esteem by the crown princess of Germany that she has sent her chef, Albert Neumann, to study its mysteries. Neumann began his observations today at the Hotel St. Regis. Five and a half hours he spent in the kitchen, according to the manner of the United States, will receive special attention from the expert and he has also heard that buckwheat and wheat cakes are appetizing breakfast dishes. Above all, this wizard of the sauce pan wishes to inform himself thoroughly on all the American methods of preparing oysters and clams.

REFUSE A LANDING TO ORIENTALS AT VANCOUVER

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 12.—Advices from Vancouver state that the mayor of Vancouver has warned the captain of the steamer Montague which has on board 14 Japanese, 140 Chinese and 841 Hindus, destined for this port, that he would be unable to guarantee a safe landing there because the unionists have expressed the determination to resist the immigration of any more Asiatic laborers.

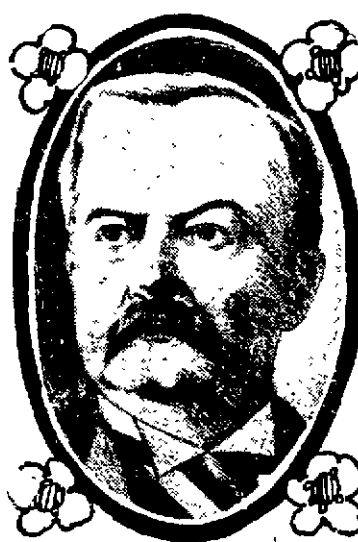

On board the Montague were hundreds of Chinese, Japanese and Hindus. The Hindus formed the greatest part of the human cargo and the plan to ship them to Ottawa with the commodities of Vancouver, is an outcome of the recent Oriental disturbances. The steamship company, fearing trouble, landed nearly all of the Japanese at Victoria.

CROWD MENACES.
At Vancouver, the dock was roped off by two blocks and heavily guarded by company employees and police. Last night an attempt was made to land the Hindus. An immense crowd had gathered and the officials were afraid to let the Hindus face the crowd alone.

They were returned to the ship with the announcement that they (Continued on Page 15.)

Moore, and Alexander King are apparently cast to play the leading parts. Luther Brown, who has charge of the Calloway detective bureau, was in evidence at the opening session of the trial. The defense employed two court reporters in addition to two court reporters.

CONTINUANCE DENIED.
When the case of Tirey L. Ford was called, Attorney Earl Rogers arose and asked a continuance in this case for the production of certain witnesses and evidence explaining that Mr. Calhoun's case.

NOTE IN BOTTLE AT SEA TELLS OF SHANGHAIING

Los Angeles Man Writes How He Was Forced to Go on Cruise With British Ship Alcinous.

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—Arrested by a smooth stranger while watching the busy launches come and go from one of the pier heads, Franklin Drake, a Los Angeles young man, fell a victim to the wiles of the seafaring stranger and when he came to himself he found to his dismay that he was a prisoner aboard a British vessel bound for ports beyond the seas. This is the strange and pitiful tale revealed by a hurriedly scrawled little note sealed up in a bottle, which was found last evening by Arthur Stewart, losing about in the waters of the bay off the West Berkeley shore. Stewart lives at 915 Euclid street, and discovered the message from the shanghaiing man while rowing on the bay in his skiff.

The note was written on coarse paper with a blue indelible pencil and was somewhat blurred by the water. It was found by the water. Stewart took his find to the police, who wired the relatives of the unfortunate man in the southern city. The text of the writing, which was barely discernible, is as follows:

To the finder, this is a note of mine to inform the police of the place in which this may be found, and which I earnestly hope that it will. I was a stranger in

POLICE AND STRIKE-BREAKER ARE TO LOSE $1000 REWARD

Farley's Lieutenant, Who Sent Old Companion to Prison, Now Fears He Had Trouble for Nothing.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—T. P. Vahey, who came out here as a lieutenant to Strike-breaker Farley at the beginning of the street car strike last May, is likely to be mugged out of a reward of $500 that is coming to him for informing upon Paul Kelly, who wrecked a New York elevated train in May, 1905, thereby causing the death of a score of people.

A short time after Vahey arrived in this city he spied Kelly at work in the Southern Pacific yard at Third and Townsend streets and immediately recognized him as the man whom the entire metropolitan police had been searching for for the past two years. Vahey was sure of his man, because he had employed Kelly as a strike-breaking motorman several times prior to May, 1905.

SOUGHT REWARD.
Vahey decided to report the matter to the police, but as he knew that Carl Morganstein, the New York millionaire, whose son was one of those killed in the railroad wreck, had offered a reward of $1000 for Kelly's arrest, he thought he was entitled to some of it.

He went to police headquarters and made an agreement with Captain of Detectives Colby that he should receive $500 as his share of the reward. He then led Detective Ed Gibson to where he succeeded in arresting Kelly, and he was duly turned over to the New York police. Since then Vahey has been patiently waiting for his reward and only today was received to the effect that the reward had been deposited in the form of two certified checks made out in the name of W. W. McLaughlin, former inspector of police, and that the New York authorities were unable to locate McLaughlin.

FEARS TRICK.
As soon as Detective Ed Gibson saw the New York communication today he easily recognized what he thinks is a

VICTIM OF "SPIRITS" IS INSANE

Aged Man Who Gave Land to Medium Incompetent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Edward W. Vanderbilt, the aged retired merchant of Brooklyn, who married May S. Pepper, the Spiritualist medium, is incapable of managing his affairs because of lunacy, according to a verdict returned by a sheriff's jury in Brooklyn today.

The proceedings to have Vanderbilt declared incompetent were brought by his daughter, Miss Minerva Vanderbilt, after Vanderbilt had married Mrs. Pepper several months ago, and had given to her a large portion of the real estate which he owned in Brooklyn, including the house in which they lived.

A brother and sister of Vanderbilt subsequently joined her in the appeal to the courts. The hearing was held before a jury and a commission consisting of a physician, a lawyer and a banker.

"BRIGHT EYES" DECEIVED.
Much testimony was offered to show that Vanderbilt had been imposed upon by so-called communications with his dead wife through a spirit whom he called "Bright Eyes," the communications being engineered by Mrs. Pepper-Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Pepper-Vanderbilt was put on the witness stand and questioned at great length as to her ability to communicate with the spirits. She was called upon by opposing counsel to read the contents of letters in sealed envelopes. This she could not do in the courtroom explaining that the gift only came to her at certain times, when the spirit moved her.

The jury retired at 3 p. m. yesterday and was in session all night. The final vote was twelve for incompetency against three for competency. This is sufficient to constitute a verdict.

SLAY MOORS IN CAMP

CASCA BLANCA, Sept. 12.—The allied Franco-Spanish army yesterday made a sudden and successful move on Tadder, where the Moors were massed in force. CAUSED BY EXPLOSION OF AN OIL STOVE

Fire broke out this afternoon about 2 o'clock in the second story of the machine cannery, which is across Filbert street.

FLAMES SPREAD.
The flames spread to the roof of the shop of the California Fruit Cannery's Association at First and Myrtle streets in the space of a very few minutes the flames extended throughout the brick building and before the fire department could get water on the flames, $25,000 worth of practically new machinery was ruined.

It is believed that the fire originated from the room occupied by Japanese help. Just before the fire broke out they were heard to scream and rush out into the street. They used an oil stove for cooking, which, it is believed, exploded. The machine shop is in a brick building adjoining the warehouse of the canning association. The warehouse stock was lost as was the main plant of the cannery, which is across Filbert street. The flames spread to the roof of the Chapman Smelting Company on Myrtle street, above the machine shop. The interior of this plant, which is owned by C. Solomon Jr., was badly damaged, probably a loss of nearly $5000. While the cannery company's loss was fully covered by insurance, the smelting company was but partially insured.

The flames were stopped before reaching the large warehouse of C. Solomon Jr., wherein is thousands of dollars' worth of fine imported goods. In the immediate vicinity of the fire, besides the numerous manufacturing concerns which escaped damaged, are scores of cottages. As quickly as the flames broke out the furniture was removed by wagonloads.

LARKIN'S VIEWS ON MARRIAGE AND RELIGION MENACE MORALS, SAY PASTORS

Scientist Branded as Red Flag Socialist

The recent declaration made before the Eugenic Association in San Francisco by Professor Edgar L. Larkin of the Mount Lowe Observatory staff, that religion should be thrown out of the churches and the marriage relation dissolved and abolished—has stirred up the clergy of all creeds and denominations, professors of theology and representatives of those women's clubs which are devoted to social and intellectual improvement. THE TRIBUNE has opened its columns for these to express their views.

Professor Larkin is characterized by some as a revolutionist; by others as a retrogressionist; by others the suggestion is conveyed that he is a charlatan when comes to the consideration of his attitude toward theology and social science, while nearly all agree that he is totally unworthy of being taken seriously. Following are the comments made on Professor Larkin's views:

CATHOLIC PRIEST'S PROTEST.

Rev. Father James Grant, the assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church at Eighth and Jefferson streets, made the following comments:

"Dr. Larkin is a revolutionist. His utterances on marriage and religion are so subversive of public morality that were he a demagogue he would be a menace to the community. If he attracts attention at all, he does so as a red flag socialist, not as a scientist and still less as a theologian.

"There cannot be, and, therefore, never was antagonism between religion and science. That fact has been proclaimed ever since religion began. It has been insisted on by every writer on Christian apologetics for the last two centuries. But facts of that kind do not bother scientists like Dr. Larkin. St. Augustine, for instance, pointed out to some oracle of the Larkin type, in the fourth century, that neither the Bible nor the Church has anything to do with the teaching of science, because in them, God is teaching only what concerns faith and morals. It is an elementary distinction between revelation and inspiration, but apparently Dr. Larkin never heard of it. The doctor assumes, too, that religion is not natural. But the very basis and foundation of religion is natural. The virtue of justice is to man and the creature of man; the basis of religion, the duties of man to man and of the creature to the creator; and those other duties are expressed by the equations that were established between persons and things by the very fact of creation. They are obvious, for instance, between parent and child.

RELIGION EVERLASTING.

"Religion is natural, because it is the outcome of natural law and, therefore, must exist as long as nature does. As nature there is sure a thing, too, as supernatural religion; but it presupposes natural religion as a basis. It is not science or otherwise, that makes man good, or fits him to grapple with the great problems of life. That is accomplished through virtue, prudence, justice, fortitude, temperance. These are the elements of religion. Larkin is an encyclopedist and when the doctrine of the encyclopedist prevails with the people in France the reign of terror began.

PROFOUNDLY FLIGHTY.

The Rev. Dr. Charles Brown, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Clay and Twelfth streets, in an interview to-day said:

"Our friend, Mr. Larkin, seems to be flighty. There are many small minds in every community which are completely captivated when some one big idea is loaded into them. If they had several ideas at the same time their little boats would be balanced and able to keep afloat. The question of sex is an important one, but it does not make superfluous all other principles of right living as Mr. Larkin seems to think. His utterances are so extravagant as to be their own antidote. Thoughtful people will not take them seriously."

REACTIONARY THEORIES.

The Rev. Homer J. Vossburgh of the First Baptist Church, said:

"It is enough to say of Professor Larkin's theories that they contain nothing new. They have been practiced by most abnormal tribes and have been illustrated on Barbary Coast and in similar sections of other cities. Civilization has outgrown such theories and we will never return to them. Science is undoubtedly helping us, but it will not do so by inducing a reversion to a type of social living since recognized as unfit to survive."

AN EPISCOPAL VIEW.

The Rev. Clifton Macon, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Twenty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue, spoke as follows:

"I would say that so far as the reported declarations are concerned, they are one of the ideas of a man who has extremely radical and reckless views which lead to the destruction of much that is fundamental in our social life, but which are apparently very weak on the constructive side.

"One can hardly take him seriously, for if he did, he would have difficulty in deciding whether he were wiser than all other men, past and present, or simply a monomaniac.

"I have no criticism to make of his contention that children should be taught the facts regarding the propagation of life as they have it right to know, and must be taught. If they are to avoid physical evils and moral pitfalls, but this is no new doctrine, although it needs to be emphasized. His attack on religion seems to me to be a little foundation and will do less harm."

A CLUB WOMAN'S PROTEST.

Mrs. Cora E. Jones, president of the Oakland club, said:

"Why, I think the professor's theory is terrible and will never come to pass. Science and religion should go hand in hand as they are inseparable. There can be no religion without science and it is safe to say there can be no science without religion."

JEWISH RABBI'S COMMENT.

Rev. Dr. Friedman said:

"The professor of astronomy may know everything about the inhabitants in the heavens, but I venture to say that there is something of the secret of men who dwell on earth which he does not know. He may be a very great scientist, but he has failed as yet to penetrate the human soul.

He may have ascended to Mars and surveyed Jupiter, but I venture to say that he has not delved down to the bottom of the sluice-gate, from which flows the human tear. If he did he would rather turn the Eugenic hall instead of the reverse."

THEOLOGIAN'S VIEWS.

Professor William Frederick Bae, of

the Pacific Theological Seminary, makes the following comments:

"I should characterize such remarks as are credited to Professor Larkin as essentially unscientific. That kind of an attitude has been taken before and has been discredited and disproved again and again. I cannot understand how an educated man can entertain any such convictions. What is true in science and what is true in religion certainly can be harmonized and are being harmonized every day that we live. I have put in six years in scientific study in the field of evolutionary botany and am familiar with the teachings of most of the scientists on this subject. I know for a fact that this attitude is not the stand taken by the recognized scientists of the day. I would call them hardly worthy of serious consideration."

lists on this subject. I know for a fact that this attitude is not the stand taken by the recognized scientists of the day. I would call them hardly worthy of serious consideration."

SEEKING CHEAP NOTORIETY.

The Rev. Dr. Morrison, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, says:

SCIENCE AND RELIGION AGREE.

Rev. A. S. Coats, of the Baptist Church on College avenue and Dowditch street, Berkeley, says:

"Evidently Professor Larkin does not understand the doctrines of the church, else he would not make such statements as have appeared in the public press. There is no conflict between science and religion. No intelligent person who listens to the teachings of the modern pulpit can find any serious conflict between scientific truth and the message of the church. We, as ministers of the gospel, are trying to assert that the laws of nature are the laws of God.

"As for the theory of Eugenics, I have nothing to say against it, and there is no reason why it should not be investigated by those who so desire. The followers of these doctrines seem to think, however, that they have something which no one else has. To my mind there is nothing in the whole doctrine which is not in harmony with the teachings of Orthodox Christianity."

TAFT SAILS FOR ORIENT

Great Crowd at Dock Bids War Secretary and Party Hearty Adieu.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 12.—Secretary William H. Taft and party sailed at 1 o'clock today for the Orient on the steamship Minnetonka. The last public utterance of the Secretary of War was a speech, which he made at the meeting this morning of the State Medical Association. The Secretary was in fine spirits and chatted and laughed in an animated way with the members of his party aboard the Minnetonka, while a great crowd looked on from the dock and waved the heartiest of adieus and good wishes to the Ohioan.

MERRY PARTY ABOARD.
Accompanying Secretary Taft are representatives of the Associated Press and Columbia Broadcasting System, and other party members, his wife and son Charles, his private secretary, Fred J. Carpenter, and General Clarence Edwards, Chief of the Bureau of Indian Affairs. On the Minnetonka also are Judge Thomas Burke and W. F. Backus, of this city, special commissioners to the Orient for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition; Thomas J. O'Brien, Ambassador of the United States to Japan, and Peter Augustus Jay, First Secretary of the Embassy.

CONSTABLE IS TAKEN TO JAIL

Arrested as Suspicious Character, but Gets Liberty Next Morning.

William R. Knight was arrested as a suspicious character at the corner of Seventh and Cedar streets last night by Policemen Fenton. When he was searched at police headquarters a big revolver was found in his hip pocket and a charge of carrying a concealed weapon was entered against him.

"Have you any excuse to make, Knight?" asked Judge Geary, when the case was called in the police court this morning.

"I certainly have, Your Honor," answered Knight. "I am a deputy constable from Merced county and I started yesterday on an automobile trip to this city. A few miles out my machine broke down and I walked in to get some repair materials. As I was not familiar with the city I was wandering about Seventh street looking for a suitable place to get my supper and I suppose my actions seemed suspicious to the officer."

Captain of Police Petersen told Judge Geary that he believed Knight's story to be true and the man was released.

THE GIRL FROM PARIS. Now being played at the Columbia Theater for the second and last week has been drawing large and well pleased crowds. The company headed by such well-known stars as Sumi Sumitani, Eugene O'Brien, and Dillon, Laura Oakley, and Sybil Page, is exceptionally good.

The show is a scream from beginning to end and those afflicted with the "blues" and indigestion would certainly start on the speedy road to recovery after witnessing the funny situations that occur throughout the play.

Sidman is the proprietor of the Hotel Spa, a famous resort in the German mountains. He is a man of many talents and his mind is always on the go. He is the author of the "Shining Lights" and the intricate situations into which he falls and the way he manages to extricate himself call for outbursts of applause.

Oakland's favorite, Sybil Page, as the girl works herself into the hearts of the audience from the beginning. In the song of "Twinkle, Twinkle, Dim" her voice is heard at its best.

Matinees will be given Saturday and Sunday.

Beginning next Monday, September 13, "The Telephone Girl" will be the attraction at the popular Tenth street theater, tickets now being on sale at the box office.

DIES WITHOUT PHYSICIAN.

Henri Hopp, a householder, 30 years of age, died at his home, 806 Castro street, last evening without medical attendance. It is believed that death occurred from alcoholism. The body of the decedent was taken to the morgue where an autopsy will be performed this afternoon to determine the cause of death.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The President has appointed General S. M. B. Young, retired, who was his old commander in Cuba to be superintendent of the Yellowstone Park.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 12.—The assassination of M. Borodulin, superintendent of the police prison at Akatui, who was killed by an unknown person on the streets of Pekoff, his home village, yesterday, throws further light on the strange fate which is pursuing the jailers and officers of the Akatui prison.

The woman who killed M. Borodulin, a police officer, a cossack officer and another officer, have been assassinated. After the sentence of death had been commuted to twenty years' imprisonment she was sent to the Akatui prison, but as a result of the disorders there in February last, she was transferred to the prison of which Borodulin was the superintendent.

ALLEGES FISH DEALER.

ROBS HER OF MONEY.

Abe Shapiro, a fish dealer at the Free Market, was arrested this morning on the charge of "short-changing" Mrs. James Leonard, a customer, last evening.

Mrs. Leonard declares that she made a small purchase from Shapiro and tendered him in payment a twenty-dollar gold piece. He returned her some change, which she accepted, but when she returned home she found that the gold piece was missing.

Shapiro denies that he gave his customer the wrong change. According to his story she accepted the money, that he gave her and went away, apparently satisfied. It was not until some minutes later, declares the fish dealer, that she returned and asked for an additional $20 which he refused her.

No complaint had been filed when the case was called in the Police Court this morning and the hearing went over until tomorrow.

MYSTERIOUS AUTO IS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

SAN JOSE, Sept. 12.—A new four-cylinder Oldsmobile took fire sometime Monday afternoon on the Alum Rock road and was almost completely destroyed. The blackened frame was towed into town Monday night and shipped directly to San Francisco.

Inquiry at the various garages failed to reveal the identity of the owner of the machine. According to the number of the car was destroyed in the fire and the Southern Pacific shipping clerk declared he was not sure of the name.

From unauthorized sources it was learned that the car belonged to Patrick C. Hannon, the indicted president of the United Railroad of San Francisco. The occupants of the car were said to have been four members of Stanford Parlor, N. S. W. who came down in the machine from San Francisco to attend the celebration of the opening of the new gasoline tank.

The fire resulted from the explosion of the gasoline tank.

JOKER TURNS IN ALARM; THEN RUSHES AWAY.

The fire department went clattering down to the corner of Seventh and Twelfth streets about 11 o'clock this morning in response to an alarm from box five. When the chief and his crew arrived there was no sign of a fire and it was learned that a practical joker had turned in the alarm and then fled in a hasty retreat.

When the policeman on the beat arrived the secret instructions as to the course of the joker's retreat and set out in hot pursuit. He followed the trail for several blocks without sighting the fugitive and then gave up.

Thom Worden, proprietor of an undertaking establishment at the corner of Fifteenth and Clay streets, formerly conducted by Cunha & Caporazon was arrested last evening by Detective Kyle on a felony warrant sworn out by Mrs. Lella E. Lowe, who charges the undertaker with seduction under promise of marriage. Thom Worden was in the Police Court this morning for arraignment, but owing to the failure of his attorney to appear before court had adjourned. The case was continued until tomorrow, Judge Geary fixed the bond at $2000, or $1000 cash bail, and it is understood that Thom Worden will secure his release this afternoon.

EAST OAKLAND TAXPAYERS ORGANIZE CLINTON CLUB

The Clinton Improvement Club came into being last night at a mass meeting of citizens of East Oakland in Washington hall, corner of Twelfth street and Sixth avenue.

The purpose of this new club as stated by its promoters is, in general, to better the civic conditions of East Oakland, but in particular to use its influence in obtaining a more satisfactory sewer system.

It is claimed that at present the drainage is in a lamentable state of affairs, unsanitary and offensive.

It will be urged by this new body that the main sewer emptying into the waterway at the south side of East Eleventh street and First avenue, and also those on Sixth and Eighth streets, be extended to deep water.

The steps taken last night were hailed with no uncertain degree of satisfaction by many property holders of East Oakland.

OFFICERS.
The following were elected officers: President, John E. Sanford, first vice president, M. J. O'Keefe, second vice president, John W. Evans, secretary and treasurer, G. N. Cobblehead.

Executive Committee—Henry Rudy, Louis Lanz, J. La Blance, W. McKenize and S. H. Kellogg.

In conjunction with the executive committee and officers of the club, a committee of five, E. N. Belgrano, D. E. McLaughlin, G. Lokens, Jerome Deary and Gus Calberg, were appointed by the president to wait upon the City Council and

Mrs. Lowe is a trained nurse and it is said that she was formerly employed by Thom Worden's predecessors in the undertaking parlor on Fifteenth and Clay streets. Thom Worden declares that on several occasions shortly after his marriage he had taken his new quarters calls came for Mrs. Lowe from physicians and others having her professional services. Thom Worden always delivered, but he denies that he had any other business relations with the woman or that she was ever in his employ. "The story that I offered to marry Mrs. Lowe is absurd," said Thom Worden this morning. "Soon after my marriage I was called to the attention of a woman who applied to me for a position, which I refused. Since then I have seen her but seldom."

SAYS HIS WIFE WAS TOO UNTOY

Former Hayward Man Declares Spouse's Habits Made Him Flee to Gallup.

Peter M. Peterson, a stationary engineer formerly of Hayward, but now residing in Gallup, New Mexico, made a deposition which was received in the Superior Court here today, answering the charges brought by his wife Duma in a divorce suit. He states that Mrs. Peterson is an untidy housekeeper and he was compelled to leave her, placing the children with his parents in Hayward. He says the mother never gave his little ones the slightest attention and allowed them to grow up in dirty and negligent habits, also permitting them to swear.

SAYS SHE WAS GLAD.

When Peterson left Hayward, he says his wife told him she was glad he was leaving, and that she would get another man whenever she wanted one. Mrs. Peterson is said to have exclaimed that with five children she could catch a man where her husband would not be able to meet a mate who would accept him.

Esther D. Mayers brought suit for divorce today against George H. Mayers on the grounds of desertion and failure to provide. The couple have one child, whose custody is sought by the mother.

A final decree of divorce was granted by Judge Ogden today to Jesse Joseph against Charles Joseph on the ground of desertion.

AFTER TEN YEARS FIGHT MONEY IS TO BE DIVIDED

Fred Finch Orphanage Gives Up Contest in Ver Huell Estate and Final Papers Are Signed.

After more than ten years of waiting and fighting in the probate courts of this county, a final distribution in the estate of the late Caroline C. E. Ver Huell was signed this morning by Judge Harris. The Fred Finch Orphanage has relinquished its fight to have the decree of distribution blocked and will abide by the designation of bequestments as provided for in the will, which gave Antoine Borel, the Swiss Consul at San Francisco, as executor, the authority to divide the residue of the fortune of more than $100,000, after the terms of the will have been carried out.

BALANCE DIVIDED.

Out of the balance of $108,563.94 shown in the final account and the partial distribution already paid to some of the heirs, following is the distribution made today, according to the will: To her nephew, Alfred Chancelgne and his six children, $20,555; to the six children of Antoine Borel, $18,957.72; to her four cousins, John, Hallam, Marion C. and Annie Murray, $5,148.77; to J. Henry Meyer, $5,074.38; to John Frouden, $5,074.38; to Antoine Borel, $6,085.25; to the Industrial Home of Mechanical Trades for the Adult Blind, $514.87; to the Oakland Free Public Library and the Oakland Free Public Library, $1,029.75.

The following appointments are according to power given Borel by the will: California Institution for the Deaf and the Blind, the Industrial Home of Mechanical Trades for the Adult Blind, the Oakland Free Public Library, the Alameda County Kings Daughters Home for incurables, Fabiola Hospital Association, $1,846.73 each; the California Girls' Training Home, $1,385.10; Associated Charities of the City of Oakland, $1,846.74; the West Oakland Home, $1,385.10; the Children's Home Finding Society of California (Russell street branch) $233.45; East Oakland Free Kindergarten, $230.97; West Oakland Free Kindergarten, $230.97.

The collateral inheritance tax amounted to $4,471.81.

ALWAYS BLOCKED.

For many years past Borel has been ready to make a final distribution, but each time was blocked by the Fred Finch Orphanage through its attorneys, John & Shaw, who contested the division of the fortune, seeking to have the original $100,000 legacy to the Chancelignes set aside. This was done, it is contended by the attorneys, similar and similar, to make a larger portion for the Fred Finch Orphanage, because in the designation made by Borel he allowed them a residue aside from the $2000 in the list of charities. Hoping to gain a large residuary legacy, the orphanage waged a legal fight which it recently relinquished.

BOYS UNKNOWINGLY TAKE POISON; MAN SAVES THEM

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—V. P. S. Brunk of 2223 Delaware street saved the lives of two little boys who had taken poison, without knowing what it was. It seems that Brunk's little son, Willard Brunk, 11 years old, took some about 11 o'clock yesterday morning with three bottles, one of which had a poison label on it. He handed the bottles to his father, who asked him where he had found them.

RUSHES TO RESCUE.

The son told him that he had taken them out of an old box in the neighborhood, with two other boys, Harvel Wilson, and a boy whose name he did not know. He said these two boys had taken tablets from the bottle marked poison. Wanting to hear no more, Brunk dashed from the house and soon came upon the little strange boy on Francisco street, the street above where he lives. Examining the boy he found that he displayed all the evidences of having taken the poison. Taking him to his mother he showed her the poison bottles and the condition of the boy, and tried to make her understand that the boy had taken poison. This, however, he had considerable difficulty in doing, as the family are foreigners and do not understand the English language.

'I OBJECT TO MILITARY RULE,' SHOUTS PROFESSOR

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—E. Percival Lewis, associate professor of physics in the University of California, and president of the Board of Education in this city, took the military department of the State institution severely to task this morning during the course of his lecture before the class in physics 2-A.

The cause of the sudden outburst of wrath on the part of Lewis was the fact that Captain J. T. Nance, commandant of the University cadets informed the students in his department this morning that they were scheduled to report in San Francisco on next Saturday morning to take part in the celebration of the Mexican War anniversary.

When this news reached the ears of Professor Lewis, he immediately took action to the action of Captain Nance as Physics 2-A is composed mainly of sophomores and it would mean that Dr. Lewis would have only a few co-eds in attendance at his Saturday morning lecture.

MAY NOT PRESS KILLING CASE

Murder Charges Not Yet Placed Against Carmen by Arresting Officer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—James Watkins and Fred Durren, the coroner's jury of being responsible for the death of John Peterson who was killed in the riot at San Francisco and Market streets on Labor Day were not charged with murder today by the officers who arrested them for carrying concealed weapons at the time of the trouble.

The officers of the United Railroads state that the two men will not be charged with anything more serious than manslaughter, which is a heinous offense. If, indeed, the accusation is proved against them at all, the only testimony on which the men are accused is that of A. H. Sprague, who was a companion of Peterson at the time of the trouble.

TO SHUT DOWN COPPER MINES

Amalgamated Company Announces Over-Production as Cause for Action.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The Amalgamated Copper Company is about to shut down its mines about Butte, Montana, for an indefinite period. From an interest closely identified with the company it was learned that the suspension of operations is due to overproduction and lack of demand for copper, and to some difficulty in obtaining sufficient fuel at Butte.

According to the authority for the announcement, there is now a surplus of 250,000,000 pounds of refined copper in the United States. The present price is quoted in the market is about 18 cents a pound for electrolytic, but according to the authority referred to it is doubtful if 15 cents a pound could be obtained for any considerable quantity. Today's quotation on the stock exchange were the lowest in years.

Henry H. Rogers president of the Amalgamated Copper Company is now at his home in Fairhaven, Mass. Counsel for Mr. Rogers announced in court in Boston today that Rogers would not be able to appear there in a suit in which he is interested for at least three months. Sanction was given to the report on the exchange of the intended shutting down of the copper mines in Montana. The suit was admitted of filing further stocks of copper with the buying demand paralyzed. Amalgamated Copper naturally led the decline in the circumstances, breaking to the neighborhood of 60, with rumors in circulation of a cut in the dividend in prospect.

American Smelting fell nearly to 90, and Anaconda to near 2. The United States Steel stocks broke badly in the latter part of the day the common selling at the lowest price of the year.

THREE ARE RUN DOWN BY CAR

Two Women and Five-Year-Old Child Caught in Cut and Badly Injured.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Two women and a five-year-old child, the grand-daughter of one of the women and the niece of the other, while walking along the railway tracks, were run down by an in-bound Covina car on the Pacific Electric system right of way at the Bailey street end of the new cut off today and seriously injured. The left leg of the child was ground to pieces and had to be amputated.

Her grandmother, 60 years old, sustained fractures of the left hip and arm. To aunt, the only one able to tell of the accident, escaped with a slight hip wound. Names of the injured:

Mrs. Concepcion Parras, 60 years old, El Monte, left thigh and left arm fractured; Delhina Verde, 5 years old, Daly and Britannia streets, Los Angeles, left leg crushed and large scalp wound; Mrs. J. L. Ghio, 1527 Daly street, hip injured.

BODIES FOR $300.
William Buder filed suit against O. O. Anderson and his wife for the recovery of $300 for services alleged to have been rendered on two houses now in the course of construction in Alameda. The case was continued in Judge Quinn's court.

RAPID TRANSIT EMBARRASSED

Street Railway Shares Drop to Lowest Record—Officials Deny Trouble.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 12.—The belief is general that a crisis is at hand in the affairs of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company which controls the street railway facilities of this city. For some time there has been a steady decline in the price of the shares on the local stock exchange, culminating in a sudden break of $1 a share from 22½ to 19½ on Tuesday.

Yesterday the stock hung around 20, but today there was a further break of $4 a share to the lowest price on record. This was accompanied by rumors that the company cannot meet its fixed charges, and therefore a receivership will be necessary.

MUCH MYSTERY.
The financial status and dealings of the company have been surrounded with much mystery by those in control, and this has helped to weaken the confidence of the stockholders.

Recently the company succeeded in entering into an agreement whereby the city became a partner in the operation of the lines. Now an attempt is being made to upset this agreement on the ground that it is unconstitutional.

DECLARE CHEAT.
The claim is made that the city was cheated and that the effect of the partnership is to saddle upon it street paving expenses of more than $500,000 annually.

STOCKS DOWN.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 12.—During the afternoon the market for traction stocks was dull and steady, the close being above the lowest. Philadelphia Rapid Transit showed a net loss of 3½ points. Union Traction closed at a net loss of 6½.

Officials and directors on the rapid transit company denied positively that the company is in financial distress. Figures given out show ample funds on hand and in sight to cancel all obligations and pay for improvements under way.

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE HAND IN BIG STRIKE
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—Owing to the recent strikes of mill-hands and railroad operatives throughout Mexican Republic, the government has decided to take drastic action against leaders and agitators in all cases where the men are advised as walk out for trivial causes as has been alleged in the late strikes. If, after investigation, the government is convinced that the calling of a strike is unwarranted by the striking workmen and the leaders will be obliged to call to the attention of the law. The strike in the Pacific Ocean, 100 miles off the coast of the Yucatan territory.

FAMOUS JOHN TURNER DIES AFTER OPERATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The death of John M. Turner, writer, humorist, actor and originator of trick banjo playing, is reported today. He is the best reported graduate of the University of the Pacific, having followed an operation for appendicitis.

Turner was founder of the Vampire Club, and his ready wit and banjo playing were known from coast to coast. Many years ago Turner started a banjo instruction school and had many society people among his pupils, but in the early eighties he gave up the school for the stage.

INQUIRIES COME FOR TWO SUPPOSED DEAD
The Board of Health is in receipt of a letter from J. H. Kuhns of the Packard Piano company of Fort Wayne, Ind., asking for information concerning Nicolas Moritz, who was last heard of in Oakland several years ago. The writer said he heard that Moritz had lately died in this city. The death is not recorded in the records of the city between 1872 and the present time.

Another letter came from Milton T. U'ren, an attorney of San Francisco, inquiring for the date of the death of William S. Moss, formerly of this city, who is supposed to have died here twenty-five or thirty years ago. The officials of the Board of Health are unable to find any record of this death.

TEARS OUT CABLE.
VALLEJO, Sept. 12.—The protected cruiser Cincinnati was passing up the stream on her way to the yard, dragged her anchor for some distance, owing to the strong flood tide. As a result, the four derrick masts were broken, and considerable damage to the telephone and telegraph cables which run across to the yard. The cable was cut and the cables were damaged. The cutter Ferdinand has arrived at the yard and is discharging coal.

Lost and Found.
Lost, between 9 30 p. m. yesterday and noon today, a billiard table with a green cloth and a black and white checkered top. This loss was occasioned by finding at Osgood Bros' drug store, Seventh and Broadway and corner of Twelfth and Washington streets, a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. THINKS LIFE IN JEOPARDY

Meat Dealer Fears Individual Handy With Gun Will Kill Him.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Jerome Bassity, who was arrested Tuesday for discharging firearms in the city limits, and released on bail, will be again arrested today on a warrant sworn to by Julius Baumgarten on a charge of assault to commit murder.

Bassity went to the Grand Central Market on Geary and Steiner streets on Tuesday and began shooting at the lights in the stall occupied by Julius Baumgarten as a meat market. Bassity told Baumgarten as he was the owner of the place he didn't want the lights burning all the time. Baumgarten sent for a policeman and had Bassity arrested.

When Bassity was released from custody he returned to the market and he alleged to have taken a couple of shots at Baumgarten himself. Bystanders interfered and the belligerent was induced to leave.

Baumgarten has been considering the matter and today came to the conclusion that his life was in danger. He therefore swore out a warrant for the arrest of Bassity.

Jerome Bassity is the proprietor of a meat market that has been looked upon for some time with suspicion.

USED SHOE ON HIS SPOUSE SELLS LIQUOR

According to Rose Angel her husband Samuel did not have a very angelic temper for she alleged that he beat and abused her until she was forced to the divorce courts. This morning she was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Judge Ogden and awarded $15 a month alimony for the support of their minor child. The angels were married in San Francisco on April 20, 1900, but for the past few years have lived in nearly a score of different addresses in West Oakland.

To begin with, Mrs. Angel declares that her spouse slapped her and used profanity. She says that he grew more violent and beat her with a chair. On another occasion she charges her husband with beating her on the shoulder with his shoe. A clinch to the alleged cruelty came when Mrs. Angel says that during July last Angel came home with one mousetrap and she locked him out. When she finally came forth in her night clothes Mrs. Angel says her husband chased her to the street and she fled to the police station for protection. Attorney George Ingraham represented Mrs. Angel.

COOKING GOOD; GETS DIVORCE

On Woman's Statement Judge Grants Decree—Another Couple Dissolved.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Emma Clark asked Judge Graham for a divorce from her husband whom she has not seen for three years, and was granted the petition with little delay.

Mrs. Clark testified that she was deserted four months after her marriage and has not seen her husband since. Judge Graham thought she might have been remiss in some of her wife's duties, and asked about her cooking. She said she had done everything possible to satisfy her husband in that respect and that her cooking had been most satisfactory. On this explanation the decree was immediately granted.

CANNOT AGREE.
Emma Wobber and her husband James Wobber, who have been trying for several months to get along together under the paternal supervision of Judge Graham, reported this morning that it was hopeless for them to attempt to live in the same house. Although they have been married thirty-five years and have lived amicably until the past three or four years, for reconciliation seems impossible. Judge Graham yielded and allowed a decree of divorce allowing the wife half her husband's wages which amount to $50 a month.

The State Board of Equalization forgot to tax the road, and when their mistake was made known to them, refused to make good. The county itself agreed to be assessed at the figure fixed by the superior court yesterday, although the proper amount of the assessment should have been in the neighborhood of $150,000.

The Duty of Mayor Taylor.

It is up to Mayor Taylor to preserve the public peace in San Francisco. It is useless to plead with people to refrain from acts of lawless violence. If obedience to the law is not voluntarily rendered, it must be compelled. At all hazards peace and safety for business and travel on any street of the city, day or night, must be secured. It can only be secured by those armed with the proper authority.

All executive authority in San Francisco is centered in the mayor. Hence the duty of protecting person and property and preserving the public peace devolves upon him. The responsibility for suppressing the bloody affrays and street fusillades which repeatedly disgraced the city of late, and which are wrecking business and destroying confidence abroad in the ability of the people of San Francisco to govern themselves properly therefore rests upon his shoulders.

Will Mayor Taylor rise to the occasion, assert the supremacy of the law, and put down riotous disturbance with a firm hand? This is the vital question of the hour. Upon its answer a vast deal depends, the employment of thousands, the business interests of the entire city and the stability of society.

San Francisco is sinking into a condition of primitive barbarism. The efficiency of the law, so far as the safety of person and property and the maintenance of order are concerned, is below that of a frontier village. Even some of the police join in riot and mingle as partisans in the bloody street fights. Others abstain lawless violence.

If Mayor Taylor is unable to put down violence and bloodshed he is incompetent to fill the office he occupies. If he is unwilling to preserve the public peace he is false to his duty and unworthy of the high trust reposed in him.

Much was expected of Mayor Taylor when he assumed the mayoralty. He entered upon his official duty with the good wishes and esteem of the great body of the citizens of San Francisco. He was regarded as an honest, conscientious man resolved to do his duty to the whole people. Putting aside all questions relating to the methods pursued in ousting the old administration, the public confidently expected that Dr. Taylor would inaugurate a clean, wholesome rule designed to restore confidence in a distracted community and encourage thrift, enterprise and good feeling. It was felt that he could be depended upon to afford that first requisite of prosperity in an enlightened commonwealth, peace and order. But up to this time he has failed to do it. His activities have been mainly confined to political wigwagging to secure another term. He has never once announced a determination to uphold the majesty of the law and protect the public peace. He has never opened his mouth to denounce the violent crimes which shame the city and injure its commerce and fair name. He has not even deprecated lawlessness. He has given no public assurance that he regarded the maintenance of peace and obedience to law as a necessary official duty.

But it is not too late. The mayor can yet show that he is equal to the situation and worthy of the high expectation with which he was ushered into office. He can furnish no better claim to another term than to enforce the law with a fair and impartial hand. If he would be the man of the hour he must prove himself the man of the hour. Let him insure peace and safety on the streets and a grateful public will be only too delighted to honor him.

The Subway Project.

A joint meeting of a special committee of the Board of Supervisors and of representative officials of Oakland, Alameda, the Southern Pacific and the Oakland Traction companies is being held this afternoon to consider the question of opening a subway under the estuary for the carrying of all the traffic which is now borne by the two bridges spanning the navigable waterway. The time is opportune for an agreement on some definite plan whereby the subway may be constructed without delay. The steam lines now using the Harrison street bridge are about to be electrified. When that is accomplished the problem under consideration will be simplified, inasmuch as all other kinds of road traffic, except steam, can use the subway.

The traffic between the two shores of the estuary is growing rapidly. The establishment of a big warehouse district on the Alameda marsh has added materially to it during the past twelvemonth. Then again industries are multiplying on the southern shore, and the opening of the drawbridges to allow the passage of vessels up and down the channel interrupts travel and frequently causes a congestion on the county bridge.

The various interests concerned in the change from the present overhead crossing of the estuary should have no difficulty in devising a plan whereby they can co-operate in the opening of a suitable subway at an early date which will meet with public approbation. The removal of the bridges is really essential, as they interfere materially with navigation and retard the commercial development of the eastern end of the harbor.

LOOKING FOR FATAL GERM

Infantile Paralysis is Alarming
Parents and Doctors in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis in this city is assuming alarming proportions, according to the reports of hospital physicians who have the disease under observation in the hope of discovering the germ which is supposed to be responsible for the infection. There are now under treatment in various hospitals between 300 and 400 children who have the disease well developed and most of them will be hopeless cripples for the rest of their lives. The hunt of the infantile paralysis germ which, led by Dr. J. F. Terriberry, chief neurologist of the hospital for ruptured and crippled staff, began several weeks ago when the present epidemic was in its earlier stages, and is still in progress. But in spite of the fact that several hundred afflicted children have been examined by the investigators the trail of the paralysis germ is blazed no more clearly than it was at first.

Many a man does things he wouldn't do just because his wife tells him not to. Owing to the present style it's rather difficult for a woman to laugh in her sleeve.

Russian Terrorists at Work.

The Russian Terrorist organization is again active. It is giving its attention as usual to the reactionary chiefs of police, particularly those who made themselves conspicuous in the suppression of the recent revolutionary uprising. It added two new victims of this class to its list of assassinations yesterday. One was chief of police at Bialystok at the time of the Jew baiting outbreak in June, 1906, although not holding the office when he was mortally wounded; the other was chief of the secret police at Irkutsk, Siberia.

The Terrorist organization is the most powerful and most feared secret political body in the Russian empire. Its members exist in all walks of Russian society—from the humble sphere of the peasant class to the innermost circles of the imperial court. It is the constant fear that the most confidential and best trusted of his personal attendants may be a Terrorist in disguise which so racks the nerves of the timid Czar that he is at times afraid of his own shadow. That the inner circle of the Terrorist organization is in constant touch with the imperial court and is thoroughly posted on what is taking place there has been frequently demonstrated, while its own personnel is successfully concealed despite the closest vigilance of the secret police and government spies. If any of the secret police ever get a line on the Terrorist leaders they are not allowed to make use of it, assassination quickly following. On the other hand the Terrorist inner circle meets frequently under the very shadow, as it were, of the headquarters of the secret service, tries and condemns those who have crossed its path, fearlessly publishes its decrees of death and carries them out invariably in the most open manner.

MERRILL'S APPOINTMENT
ONLY FOR RECESS PERIOD

Senatorial Custom and Practice Is to Confirm Only Postmasters Selected by Senators.

The action of President Roosevelt in appointing Clarence Merrill Postmaster of Berkeley during the recess of Congress, has created a great deal of talk in political circles. The appointment of Merrill can only be temporary, for the President must send the name to the United States Senate for confirmation as soon as that body convenes next December in Washington.

It is stated on the highest authority that both Senators Perkins and Flint will not ask for the confirmation of Mr. Merrill unless requested to do so by their colleague, Representative Knowland. The established custom in the Senate has been for that body to refuse to confirm any appointee from any State where that appointee is not satisfactory to the Senators from the State in which he is appointed. The President evidently had this in mind when he wired Mr. Knowland, stating that he had given Merrill a recess appointment and that when Congress convened, he would consult with both Senators and Mr. Knowland relative to the selection of a postmaster at Berkeley for the full term.

THE SIMPLE FACTS.
Efforts are being made by those who would gladly avail themselves of any opportunity to discredit the California delegation in Congress to bring into the controversy many side issues. The facts are simply these—that Mr. Knowland received from the Postoffice Department a request to name a successor to Postmaster Schmitz at Berkeley. Mr. Knowland recommended Charles E. Thomas and that recommendation was concurred in by the two United States Senators from this State, following the usual custom.

President Wheeler of the University of California, prior to the resignation of Mr. Schmitz, had it is generally reported, spoken to Mr. Merrill relative to the Berkeley Postoffice. When the appointment of Thomas was announced, President Wheeler immediately wired a protest to the President, making various charges against Mr. Thomas, which charges will no doubt later be made public and President Wheeler called upon to present proof bearing out his accusations.

KNOWLAND'S POSITION.
After having made a recommendation in good faith, Mr. Knowland could not, of course, adopt any other course than to adhere to his recommendation of Thomas. From the very outset, he has expressed his willingness to withdraw the name of Thomas if there was any evidence which could be sustained reflecting upon his character or could it be demonstrated that he did not possess the ability to fill the office.

HIS STATEMENT.
Congressman Knowland in discussing the question said:

"I received the following telegram from President Roosevelt last evening: 'NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Hon. Joseph R. Knowland, M. C., Alameda, Cal.: Desirable to appoint Postmaster now. Shall accordingly give Merrill recess appointment. When Congress convenes will confer with Senators and you as to advisability of sending the name to the Senate for permanent appointment.'"

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
"The Postoffice Department urged, owing to the immediate needs of the Berkeley office, that a Postmaster be named at once in order to relieve the assistant postmaster, E. C. Martineau, temporarily placed in charge by the boardman of Mr. Schmitz. The President has given Mr. Merrill a recess appointment, to hold until the convening of Congress in December. As stated in his wire to me, when Congress meets we will no doubt be accorded the privilege of becoming acquainted with the nature of the protest which I am officially informed has been filed by the president of the University of California against the appointment of Thomas."

WANTS ONLY SQUARE DEAL.

"All that I have requested has been a square deal for Mr. Thomas, agreeing to immediately withdraw his name if there was any evidence which could be sustained reflecting upon his character, or if it could be demonstrated that he did not possess the requisite ability. No such evidence has been presented to me, and consequently there has been no reason for withdrawing my recommendation made in compliance with a request from the First Assistant Postmaster-General and concurred in by the two United States Senators from this State. I have never yet deserted a friend under fire. I am more than satisfied to personally present the whole case to the President in December, and am confident that after both sides have been fully presented a satisfactory adjustment will result. I am a strong admirer of President Roosevelt, and whatever action he may take will be prompted by a desire to do the right thing."

"I have nothing but the kindest feelings toward Mr. Merrill, and whatever action is taken in the matter of his confirmation by the Senate should in no way be construed as a reflection upon him. He is a man of excellent character and will be the light of all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. He did not seek the office, but only consented to allow his name to be used at the earnest solicitation, so I am very reliably informed, of President Wheeler of the University of California."

RICH DOCTOR
USES FISTS

Wild Scrimmage in Which Wife
Helps When Husband is Insulted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—A brief, but wild scene started pedestrians yesterday afternoon at the corner of Van Ness avenue and Eddy street, when Dr. Edgar Bruguiere, millionaire and three times married, his excited wife and a male stranger were tangled up in a rushing scrimmage in which mud voices and fast fists took the leading part.

A large matinee crowd bumped into the belligerents, women screamed, men rushed and excitement reigned supreme while the two men fought and the wife tore hair from the unknown belligerent fighting with her husband.

There was a wild rush of people toward the corner when the noise of the affray echoed up and down the avenue, and those who reached the spot before the fighters could be separated saw Dr. Bruguiere with his nose bleeding profusely, slugging valiantly at his burly opponent, while Mrs. Bruguiere, with her fingers tugging at the hair of the latter, was doing all in her power to aid her husband.

Then Attorney Charles Wesley Reed broke through the crowd, separated the fighters, and a minute later the principals had been spirited away and the crowd dispersed, wondering what it was all about.

WHY IT HAPPENED.
The trouble was the outcome of a chance meeting and what Dr. Bruguiere claims was an insult offered him by a well-dressed stranger, who was standing on the corner as he passed the place in company with his wife. The latter's sister, Miss King, and a little boy.

The four were walking northward when Bruguiere stopped a moment to speak to John Hammersmith, the jeweler, at the door of the latter's place of business. From O'Kane was standing close at hand and by his side was the stranger, who turned toward Bruguiere and muttered something in his ear. It was an insult which Bruguiere declared he could not overlook.

He cursed and walked away with his wife and Miss King, and then, leaving them, turned back and spoke to the man who had addressed him.

What followed came with a rapidity that almost took away the breath of the witnesses. The stranger drew off as though to strike Dr. Bruguiere and the latter lunged forward and planted a hard blow on the man's face.

For a moment the melee presented a confused picture of waving arms and swaying bodies. Then Attorney Reed lunged forward between the fighters and the affair came to an end.

Both Bruguiere and Reed declared that they did not know the identity of the man.

THROWING RICE
and confetti at bridal pairs is being discouraged by the Pullman authorities for divers and sundry reasons. The Pullman car people are certainly entitled to the thanks of a suffering public and will certainly find an increased popularity on their mode of transportation for honeymoon tourists. Now, will some one please come into the limelight and relieve the public of the charivari nuisance? Of course, this is too much to hope for. I think if they would throw something really useful (like caramels or stuffed animals (loaded with Lehnhardt bonbons), or ice cream bricks, the change would be tolerated by the Pullman Co., and of course highly appreciated by the beneficiaries. Why not try it?

High Priestess of Theosophists Is Here

Career of This Woman Who Is Head of Cult Has Been a Very Stormy One.

Mrs. Annie Besant Comes to Preside Over Big Session in Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Annie Besant, successor to Helen Petrovina Blavatsky, as high priestess of the theosophists of the world, arrived at Chicago last night from New York. Today she will take the lead in the twenty-first annual convention of the American Chapter of the Theosophists' Society which opens at Orchestra Hall. Mrs. Besant was accompanied by Mrs. Bernard Russak, one of her pupils. Mrs. Besant's attention was called to a report that one of the things that will be done during the convention is to expel certain members of the society who have expressed beliefs at variance with her teachings.

"That is untrue," she said. "I wish to correct that. There is nothing to expel for. We do not dictate what our members shall think or say. I intend to take that subject up in one of my lectures. In fact I sent the manuscripts over ahead of me. We cannot afford to be narrow and petty. We are setting a high ideal and we must keep it ourselves."

Mrs. Besant will deliver four lectures in Chicago. She will go east next week and sail for Europe October 1. She will attend the international convention of the society in India at Christmas time.

In addition to being the intellectual leader of the movement, Mrs. Besant has been the official head of the international organization since the death, six months ago, of Col. Henry Steele Olcott, who helped Mrs. Blavatsky get things started in 1875. The coming of Mrs. Besant means, therefore, that Orchestra Hall, where the convention will be held next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will be for three days an object of devout contemplation for some thousands of Hindoos, Europeans and other Theosophists who can't come to the convention.

For those who can, it will be rather more of a shrine than the ancient city of Mecca ever aspired to be.

CARES LITTLE FOR POMP.

Her coming will be attended by little of the weird pomp that characterized the travels of Mme. Blavatsky. Times have changed, even in theosophical circles, and the new leader cares little for the starting "manifestations" that made the reign of the brilliant, eccentric Russian a constant source of delight for the newspapers.

Mrs. Besant, say those who know her, is a quiet, stately woman, with the face of a dreamer and hair which has turned snow white prematurely, for its owner is only 40 years old. One bit of oriental pageantry she retains. When appearing before a public gathering or being photographed she wears invariably a robe of white India cashmere with a rich border of oriental embroidery.

In manner Mrs. Besant is calm, unruffled, and decidedly feminine. This, however, has nothing to do with her beliefs and the way she expresses them. When she went from India to London two years ago to attend a convention she told the Londoners quietly that she frequently talked with the dead and that, moreover, anyone can project his astral body into space and hold conversations with the spirits of departed friends, provided only the living person studies hard enough and the spirit is suitably inclined. Of course, she added, a vegetarian diet is necessary for this sort of thing. Mrs. Besant herself has not touched "flesh foods" in eighteen years.

BLAVATSKY SPIRIT REINCARNATED.

At the same time Mrs. Besant brought from India the news that Mme. Blavatsky's spirit has been reincarnated in the body of a 20-year-old Hindoo lad. Just what disposition was made of the lad's own soul after it had been extracted to make room for the rather bulky spirit of the dead priestess she did not say. Doubtless this has been arranged satisfactorily. Of herself, Mrs. Besant says that, in a former stage of existence, she was a Hindoo woman. For this reason she believes her Hindoo dress to be particularly appropriate.

Intellectually, Mrs. Besant's career has been a stormy one. In England, where she was born, she has been known variously as an economist, a socialist, and a member of the London school board, as a Christian, an agnostic and a Theosophist, as a sister-in-law of Walter Besant, the novelist, the wife of a clergyman, and the friend of George Bernard Shaw, W. T. Stead, John Burns and Mme. Blavatsky.

Mrs. Besant was born of Irish parents in a home of old time puritanical tyranny, and as a young woman was exceedingly devoted. At 20 she married the Rev. Frank Besant, Walter Besant's brother. At 30 she had become a heretic, had been divorced from her husband, and was a leader among the London socialists.

As an associate of Charles Bradlaugh, the socialist leader, she was ostracized from London society and became the target for all sorts of condemnation. This attitude on the part of the general public has continued, in a greater or less degree, since. Mrs. Besant says she is used to it.

HER LONDON CAREER THRILLING.

But she did things in London. It was due mainly to her agitation that John Burns was given his seat in parliament. When Sir John Lubbock's bill establishing a twelve hour working day was introduced in 1884 she wrote "A day of twelve hours' toil is brutal. A legal day should be eight hours on five days in the week and not more than five hours on the sixth."

One night she stood at the head of an army of workmen in Trafalgar square, and when a regiment charged the crowd with fixed bayonets she calmly stood her ground and told the soldiers smilingly that the workmen had a perfect right to be there. And they stayed.

Then, through William T. Stead, Mrs. Besant met Mme. Blavatsky in 1889, and, in the words of the labor leaders, it was all off. Socialism didn't go far enough. Man, like the universe, said Mme. Blavatsky, is seven-fold, with four of his phases perceptible only to finely attuned senses. Mrs. Besant started after the seventh phase. Production and distribution became mere matters of the grosser senses, and reincarnation and karma, the central facts of existence, came into the limelight. And London listened in open mouthed astonishment, for Mrs. Besant is a brilliant orator and her work as a social reformer had commanded general attention.

MRS. BESANT BREAKS WITH JUDGE.

Then, while Mrs. Besant was on her way from New York to London one summer, Mme. Blavatsky ill—passed into Devalachan to get ready for another incarnation. The mahatmas didn't tell Mrs. Besant anything about it, and the reporters surprised her with it when the steamer reached the dock at Liverpool. Perhaps the mahatma messages had been delayed in transit, for bundles of them arrived soon after this, most of them addressed to a New York man named Judge. Judge interpreted them as commands that he, Judge, assume the mantle of Mme. Blavatsky. Mrs. Besant challenged him to "produce" at a theosophical trial. This hurt Mr. Judge's feelings, and he started a theosophical society of his own, leaving Mrs. Besant and Col. Olcott to run the original society as they liked.

FOUNDER OF HINDOO COLLEGE.

Mrs. Besant is the founder and president of the Central Hindoo college at Benares and has devoted much time to improving the economic condition of the native girls of India. She has just concluded a lecturing tour of Europe, and after spending a month in the United States she will return to Adyar, India, the headquarters of the Theosophical Society.

Mrs. Besant is accompanied by Mrs. Marie Bernard Russak, a daughter of the late Judge Bernard of California and herself a theosophist of some note. In Chicago the two will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Weller Van Hook, 5759 Wabash avenue. During the convention Mrs. Besant will deliver a series of lectures on occult subjects and later will lecture in Boston, Philadelphia and New York.

This is Mrs. Besant's fourth trip to America.

SOCIETY GOSSIP

The rooms of the Oakland Club were thronged yesterday afternoon, the occasion being "Oakland Day," and so successful was the gathering that the club has unanimously decided to make "Oakland Day" an annual feature.

Oakland's progress and development were the themes of the speakers who appeared, the gentlemen who addressed the club taking occasion to urge upon the women the need of their co-operation and assistance in all phases of civic improvement.

Mayor Mott in his address commended the ladies for the excellent work that they have already done in securing the services of the probation officer and in connection with the work done in the vacation schools. He stated that it was his plan to put the children's playgrounds, now in making, in the hands of a playground commission, and he expressed the opinion that the commission ought to consist wholly of women.

Mayor Mott further urged that the women of the club give their support to the establishing of the museum and art gallery which he asserts, will do more good for the refinement and culture of our young citizens than any other means within our reach. He touched at some length upon the proposition to buy the Rabe collection of South Sea curios, and stated that a committee would shortly be appointed to aid in collecting funds for the purchase.

These, with interesting and timely remarks on the work in plan and prospect for the development of our "City Beautiful" made a talk to which the ladies listened with deep attention.

Frank Bilgin, of the Chamber of Commerce, followed Mayor Mott, giving an interesting resume of the work and growth of the body that he represents. He took occasion to remind the ladies of the fact that the Alameda county exhibit had taken first prize and also a special prize at the State Fair in Sacramento and urged that those present show their appreciation for the county's splendid exhibit by visiting it when it is brought back to Oakland.

Bernard P. Miller's words followed close on the line of the preceding speaker; he gave an outline of the object of the Alameda county carnival, which will open on the twenty-third at Idora Park, and urged the attendance of all present.

Musical number by Judge Henry Melvin, W. J. McCoy and Albert D. Cohn, rounded out a most delightful afternoon. Judge Melvin sang the "Wine Song," a composition of his own, set to music by

A WOMAN'S "YES"

He'd loved her long, and told her so:
Smiles lurked in eyes, the long brown lash on,
As, looking down, she told him "No!"
With kindly, womanly compassion.

A woman's yes means always yes,
Especially in this connection;
A woman's no, if yes you guess,
May sometimes save you from dejection.

Why is it women tell white lies
And deem to be equivocal?
She shriv'led him in the eye—
Then to her lips her eyes turned traitors.

—George Birdseye.

WEDDING ETIQUETTE

Every one is supposed to arrive before the bride, and her bridesmaids await her inside the door, ranged in the order in which they are to follow her up the aisle.

The order of coming and going to and from the church is the following: "The bride's mother drives to church a few minutes before her daughter unless she is giving the bride away, in which case the mother drives with her. But it is more usual, should the father be dead, or unable from illness or absence to give his daughter away, for the next nearest male relative to do so in his place. The bride, if available, gives the bride away, or an uncle, or an old friend of the family may do so.

When the bride is married in her traveling dress, her attendants are also attired in suitable gowns of the same type, care being taken here to keep a picturesque effect in style and coloring. Children, as far as possible, should be quaintly attired in frocks that enhance their childish charm.

SAME TYPE.

The bride, as she is the last to arrive, is the first to leave the church, driving off with the bridegroom. Next, the bride's father drives on with the bridegroom's mother, then follow the bride's mother with the bridegroom's father, so that the respective parents are at home to welcome the guests. This is quite English. When they are gone, the bridesmaids are handed into the carriages by the ushers—the best man, of course, playing cavalier to the maid of honor.

It is not necessary for the bride's family to provide carriages for any save the bridesmaids, but many do so.

Judge Forbids Sweethearts to Hold Hands in Recesses of Sacred Portal

SPOONING ON CHURCH STEPS MUST STOP

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—"Church doorways must not be used for 'spooning' or love-making."

This was the judicial decision of Municipal Judge Newcomer in the Harrison street police court yesterday. Thomas Murphy, 25 years old, 554 Fifth street, and Margaret McQuaid, 22 years old, 221 Michigan avenue, a waitress, were discovered holding hands in a shady corner of the vestibule of the Second Presbyterian Church, Twentieth street and Michigan avenue, at 1 o'clock in the morning.

When they refused to move on they were taken to the Harrison street police station and booked on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The girl told Judge Newcomer that they had used the church vestibule as a resting place since last January and had not been molested, although policemen passed within twenty feet of them several times each week. The judge reminded the man and woman and censured the police for neglect of duty, then released the prisoners.

Then, while Mrs. Besant was on her way from New York to London one summer, Mme. Blavatsky ill—passed into Devalachan to get ready for another incarnation. The mahatmas didn't tell Mrs. Besant anything about it, and the reporters surprised her with it when the steamer reached the dock at Liverpool. WEDS SOLDIER WHO KILLS HER

Tragedy Marks Life of Spanish Gitana Immortalized in Opera

PARIS, Sept. 12.—It was recently reported in the French press that Mintz Nadushka, great granddaughter of Carmen, the Spanish gitana, who has been rendered immortal by Merimee and Bizet, has been poisoned by members of her tribe in England in revenge for having abandoned her people.

Mintz Nadushka is, however, alive and well and has communicated to the Matin some interesting details of the original Carmen and her own story.

The heroine of the opera bears a Spanish name, Carmen, but no true gitana could ever be called thus. "My great grandmother," says Mme. Mintz Nadushka, "was named Ar Mintz, which in Romany means the tigress or untamable. Her family name was Nadushka, and her tribe was camped outside Gibraltar, and lived by smuggling.

"It was amid these wild surroundings that Carmen grew up. She married, when yet a girl, a young man of her tribe, Yalco, who was killed in a conflict with the customs officers."

ARRESTED FOR SMUGGLING.

On day she was herself arrested for smuggling, but a brigadier, Don Jose Navarro, was smitten with her beauty and allowed her to escape. A romance was the sequel.

Don Jose was, however, a disolute, brutal man. He had taken orders at Pampeluna, but in consequence of his scandalous life he had been forced to abscond, and had enlisted under an assumed name in the cavalry. The gypsies called him "Issar Abgon," the stranger of evil omen.

Don Jose deserted for the love of Carmen and turned smuggler, but their romance was of short duration. His cruelty turned Carmen's love to hatred, and finally, in a fit of jealousy, he killed her.

Carmen had a daughter, who married Djarko, a wandering singer of some repute. They had a large family, among whom was one daughter, Thiecla, who fell in love with a British artilleryman in garrison at Gibraltar. Their daughter was Mintz Nadushka.

DESCENDANT MARRIES A SOLDIER.

The soldier, whose name was Henry Gresham, was ordered to India, and he gave Thiecla and the baby into the care of his parents, who lived in a French port of the channel.

Harry Gresham never returned. He was killed in battle, and Thiecla and Mintz returned to Djarko, who taught his grandchild to sing.

At the age of 20 Mintz Nadushka began her stage career, and it was two years ago, at London, that the gypsies tried to poison her. For months she lay between life and death, but was saved by a Frenchman, whose wife she now is.

Song of a Dream

In the quiet heart of night,
Softly, subtler than a sigh,
Fleeter than a ray of light
(Starry light)
'Tis a dream that goeth by.

'Tis a dream that goeth by,
Snare it? Nay, you may not snare
Such a thing with ear or eye,
As intangible as air,
(Crystal air)
'Tis a dream that goeth by.

O to hold it! Know it true!
That, indeed, were Ecstasy!
'Tis a vision, sweet of you,
(Love of you)
'Tis a dream that goeth by.

—Clinton Scollard.

Now Every Knight at Marienbad Wears Sprig of Edelweiss

Gay American Girl Starts Royal Fad

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Every other person at Marienbad is just now wearing a tiny Alpine daisy in his or her coat. Few people seem to know how edelweiss acquired this vogue. It seems the first morning the king arrived at Marienbad a beautiful American girl came forward and, as he was having his glass of water, and, as he was having his glass of water, presented him with a small bunch of edelweiss, which she explained would "bring him good luck." King Edward has a bright particular star at Carlsbad and courtly manners for all women. Moreover, he is peculiarly susceptible to beauty.

He raised his hat, bowed low, and accepted the flowers, requesting the donor to pin a blossom into his coat.

Ever since his majesty may be seen with a bloom from the Alps in his buttonhole. It goes without saying that all Marienbad is following suit.

His majesty has been anxious to discover the identity of the American waitress, but so far without success. Some think it is Gladys Vanderbilt, who is now a bright particular star at Carlsbad and courtly manners for all women. Moreover, he is peculiarly susceptible to beauty.

the girl should continue to remain incognito. It is difficult to say, unless it is to add greater mystery to a picturesque event before eventually disclosing her identity.

It is quite clear the American girl who presented the flowers knew something of King Edward's weakness in regard to courtesies of the kind, or she would scarcely have risked making the presentation. The king glories in romantic attentions of the kind, particularly when a touch of mystery is added to them.

Health--Beauty

A simple mixture of equal parts lemon juice, honey and cologne is an excellent skin for whitening the hands if they are abnormally red. Apply at night, rubbing well into the skin.

Ordinary table salt may be most successfully rubbed into the small elbows to make it soft and white, although at now the fashion authorities say not sleeves are no longer modish, selected bones will be once again protected. Train the lungs to free, full and vigorous action. A human being can exist on days without food, but when the breath is cut off life ceases.

Love, Come Back From the Other Day

The other day (or so it seems)
We strolled together down this lane,
And we were happy; with our dreams
Chimed in the mating birds' refrain.
You hummed some foolish, sweet love-ly
Somehow it seems—the other day!

The sun still shines down through the trees
The birds still warble happily,
The same sweet odor's on the breeze—
But somehow they are naught to me;
Naught to me since you're away,
Though you were here—the other day!

The old path winds toward the spring
Wherein the old gourd hangs I know,
'Tis strange—no change in anything—
'Tis just the same as long ago;
Except my hair is flecked with gray
Where it was black—the other day!

Once more I stand and watch the leaves
Drifting, slowly drifting down,
And e'en the south-wind sadly grieves
To miss those tangled curls of brown,
Oh, Youth—Oh Love, that would not stay
Oh, come back from—the other day!

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, society leader and brilliant leader of fashion, says the sphere of a woman is where she chooses to make it.

Mr. Schwab says that marriage is always the goal of woman, and Mrs. Fish says marriage is a minor consideration to a career.

CECILE BRUNER.

Not for Such as Schwab To Dictate to Homeless

When every woman's and man's sphere can begin in a real home (not borrowed from somebody else), wherein the young of both sexes share the duties preparatory for their own home, Schwab might say then, "Get thee to a home!" It is not for such now to dictate to the homeless. Where there is no home there must be the endeavor first to earn it, Schwab will-

Her Ambitions Should Be Unfettered as Man's

HER AMBITIONS— HOME & CAREER

Woman should no more be confined in her ambitions than man. Let her remember she was created as man's helpmate, therefore should qualify herself for that. One expects to find woman in the home encouraging and assisting her husband in his ambitions and training the minds and characters of her children. This alone requires more brain power than many give credit for, therefore calls for knowledge. Some cannot fill this position and to such it is given to fill some outside one, in which they refine the characters of those with whom they come in contact, still being man's helpmate.

SOCIETY: GOSSIP ABOUT SMART SET

W. J. McCoy, and the "Heavenly Chimes," (Bret Harte), originally arranged by McCoy for the Bret Harte links held by the Bohemian Club some time ago. Both numbers were well received and were warmly enjoyed.

Albert D. Cohn, a talented young pianist who has been McCoy's pupil played some numbers that gave promise of the splendid work that may be expected of him when he has had the European training that his talent demands. He plans to go to Leipzig very shortly, there to study for two or three years. He has technique feeling and a daintiness of touch most unusual in a man. His numbers yesterday were the Bachmannoff "Prelude" an étude of Chopin and a "Bacchante" by Rubinstein.

Mrs. H. C. Capwell who presided was most happy in her speeches, discharging the duties of her position with much charm and grace.

At the close of the program refreshments were served in the club rooms and the guests remained for a social hour.

The ladies in charge of the day were Mrs. A. R. Dabney, Miss Nellie Sohet, Mrs. C. F. Borton, Mrs. E. C. Wooley, Mrs. H. L. Whitehead, Mrs. George A. Faulkner, Mrs. A. W. COMING HOME

The H. M. A. Millers and their son, Christopher Miller, are expected home some time this week. Their stay abroad was lengthened by the young man's illness, but the report is that he has now fully recovered. Much interest attaches to the suggestion that his engagement to a pretty Southern girl is to be announced shortly after the Miller's return. It is said that the young man has been abroad and the affair was somewhat hastened by the fact that they came home on the same steamer.

AN ENGAGEMENT

The engagement of Miss Hilda McElrath and Charles Wheeler of San Francisco was announced yesterday at an informal sewing bee given at the McElrath home in Alameda. Six close friends of the pretty bride-elect had been invited, and to them the secret was told.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. J. E. McElrath. Her sister is the wife of Dr. Benjamin Bakewell. Mr. Wheeler is a San Francisco man who is connected with the Spring Valley Water Company.

The young people met at Inverness only two months ago, when Miss McElrath went there on a vacation. The date for the wedding has not yet been set.

The sewing bee of the afternoon resolved itself into a congratulatory gathering after the announcement and proved to be a very jolly affair. The girls who attended were Miss Ruth Hall, Miss Evelyn Adams, Miss Mary Engelhardt, Miss Clara Fraun, Miss Helen Clow and Miss Rita Wither.

AT THE OPERA

The opening of the grand opera season in San Francisco last night was not the brilliant society event that opera companies were wont to call forth in the old days, but that may be accounted for by the fact that many society people are still lingering in the out-of-town places that they seek during the summer months. Nevertheless, a very good number of socially important people attended, and some beautiful gowns were worn.

Among those who had box parties were James D. Phelan, Mrs. D. S. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coryell and Mrs. Luther Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nunan, Mr. and MRS. J. LORAN PEASE.

Mrs. Nat Rosenthal and Mrs. G. Ringgold and Mrs. Louis Haas, Mrs. D. L. Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Poffo. Others who attended were Mrs. C. W. Hornick, Miss Fernanda Pratt, E. Myron Wolf, Miss Helene Pabson, Miss Linda Bran, E. H. Hoar, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sims, Miss Emilie Tajett, Mrs. A. Chesbro, Miss Helen Chesbro, Miss Gertrude Josselyn, Miss Irene Sablin, Miss Laura Gleson, Miss Emily Wilson, Mrs. Richmond Payne, Harry Canton, Mrs. Herbert Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. A. Shabero and Peter F. Dunne.

SURPRISE PARTY

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Trahan gave a surprise party on Sunday evening at the new home of the Trahans on Shattuck avenue. Among those who attended were Miss Phineas, Joseph Pluckney, Mr. and Mrs. Risedorf, Wesley Risedorf, Earl Risedorf, Mr. and Mrs. Boide, Emil Boide, Mr. and Mrs. Berdson, Mrs. Frank Clark, Leland Clark, Miss Toe Carl Will, Miss Gertrude Will, Theodore Will, Miss Lillie Pich, Miss Martha Glander, Miss Carrie Trahan and Frank Trahan.

A WEDDING

Miss Elsie Schmidt and Dr. G. E. Schwartz are to be married on Tuesday, October 1. Miss Edith Boegel will be maid of honor and Robert Schmidt will attend as best man. The wedding will be a home affair with only relatives and close friends attending.

After a honeymoon trip Dr. Schwartz and his bride will return to Oakland. They have prepared a very pretty new home in Piedmont Heights.

Health in the Canal Zone

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young Americans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained, however, by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters—who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious influences with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison, too bluishness, a saltiness and all stomach ills and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by Osgood Bros. Druggists, Seventh and Broadway, and corner Twelfth and Washington streets.

Every Steinway Piano is Twice Made

First, in designing according to the inflexible laws of science then in construction, when it is refined by the brain of genius directing the hand of the skilled artisan. 24 NEW CONTESTANTS IN RACE FOR TRIBUNE PRIZES

COUPONS COME IN BIG BUNCHES

If Your Name Is Not
There It Should Be Placed.

Intense interest has been aroused in THE TRIBUNE'S Great $10,000 Prize Contest. Today's list of candidates shows twenty-four new contestants.

If your name is not there it should be. The vote coupons printed in THE TRIBUNE each day are now secured in large packages, and the vote of the different contestants shows the result of securing the coupons and paid in advance subscriptions.

If you are not helping some friend you should begin at once.

SUCCESS COUNTS.

Success counts. Success by halves is no success, and to be successful one must work. This contest will be worth more in practical experience to an ambitious, energetic person than one would imagine. The candidates in the last contest heartily echo this sentiment. It is an experience which will double its value in more ways than one.

DON'T SIT BACK.

Don't sit back and allow others to grasp every opportunity which presents itself and wait continually for things to come your way. The only way is to get in and hustle them your way. The Great $10,000 Prize Contest is just commencing. All you need are coupons and a little time to you. You should start at once and get out to win the automobile, a lot, a piano, a watch, a trip, or one of the other valuable prizes that are to be given away.

FRIENDS WILL HELP.

Become determined first and then determine your friends who will help you if you show a determination to be a winner. No one cares to help the one who makes no effort. Subscriptions are waiting, and all you have to do is to go after them. Can you do it, or will you do it? It is up to you. Enter your name and then go to work.

MISS MAY BABANDORF.

Miss May Babandorf has entered the contest with the determination to win. She has many friends who will help her in the contest for the beautiful $625 Chickering piano that is to be given to the most popular young lady in Oakland.

CLASSIFIED AD COUPONS.

An innovation in voting contests is the issuing of votes on classified advertisements. A coupon book containing coupons to the value of $2.50 are sold for 12c. This is a saving of twenty-five cents on each dollar, and will prove a great investment for those who advertise. Classified advertisements are such as "Help Wanted," "For Sale," "Rooms to Rent," etc. These classified advertisement coupons can be used at the time the books are bought or at a later date as desired by the purchasers.

MANNER OF VOTING.

A coupon good for one vote will be published in each issue of THE TRIBUNE until the end of the contest. This coupon, if clipped and sent to the Contest Manager of THE TRIBUNE will count as one vote for the contestant named therein.

There is another and better way of securing votes and that is on subscriptions. Votes will be given on all paid-in-advance subscriptions as follows:

Three months $1.50... 100 extra votes
Six months $3.00... 200 extra votes
One year $7.50... 300 extra votes

Three hundred votes are also issued on a classified advertisement coupon book, which contains coupons worth $2.50 but sells for only $2.00.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys.
J. C. Collins, retired, 3613 Central Ave., Alameda, Cal., says: "Off and on for a great many years I have suffered from backache and attributed the trouble to a strain on my kidneys. I was bothered most while standing and when I stooped or lifted the pain was always more severe. My rest at night was greatly disturbed on account of the too frequent action of my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I procured a box. I started taking them as directed and was well rewarded. The great benefit I derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills warrants me in recommending them very highly."

MONUMENT UNVEILED BY WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

Impressive Service at St. Helena—Harbor
Lodge Treasurer, I. O. O. F., Enjoying Life in Wilds of Canada.

Officers' drill team of Forest Camp No. 102, W. O. W., and a number of the members went up to St. Helena Saturday evening and gave the initiatory work for the camp there. After the ceremony a banquet of chicken and other good things was served, followed by the usual after-dinner talks.

The officers and drill team were highly complimented upon the excellent manner in which the work was given. Head Manager Thomas M. Robinson of Oakland was present and gave an interesting talk and important information regarding Woodmen of the World. Sunday forenoon the officers and drill team of Forest Camp traveled a monument erected by the W. O. W. over the grave of the late Thomas M. Robinson. The friends and members of St. Helena Camp were greatly impressed with the ceremony. W. S.
